

The United Methodist Church announces a new project to collect LGBTQ+ History

October is LGBTQ+ History Month, and the new United Methodist Center for LGBTQ+ Heritage will hold its Kickoff Celebration on October 23 at Drew University in New Jersey, with livestream beginning at 1 p.m. MST. The event is sponsored by the General Commission on Archives and History, and speakers include church leaders Dr. Randall Miller and retired Bishop Karen Oliveto. Mark Miller, composer in residence at Drew University and a popular worship leader, will lead a time of music, singing and dancing from 2-2:30 MST. This promises to be an informative and engaging program. For the full story and registration information, click on the link:

New UM Center to collect Queer history sets kickoff celebration \(resourceumc.org\)

CENTER FOR LGBTQ+ UNITED METHODIST HERITAGE

New UM Center to collect Queer history sets
kickoff celebration

Stories, songs, exhibits and a special film screening are part of the festivities when the new Center for LGBTQ+...